

Our Programs Deliver

leadership and team development in tightly condensed workshops that simultaneously benefit your people, teams, community and world. The unique combination of training and philanthropy allows Facilitators to give a powerful, new perspective to the purpose of work and the importance of team collaboration. Each program has a Give-Back component that has been designed as a business simulation to emotionally anchor the values and mission of your organization. This has an impact in real time with real customers who benefit in a life-changing way. In this regard, the following programs also affirm your organization's commitment to corporate citizenship in your communities. # We Began in 1991 delivering team and leadership development seminars for the world's largest organizations. Our work is global and we have been widely recognized and awarded in the areas of CSR (corporate social responsibility). As of this writing, our clients have built and donated over 18,000 bicycles to under privileged children through their Life Cycles program and over 25,000 prosthetic hands delivered to amputees in over 70 countries. Our new Water Works program is having a dramatic effect on bringing safe, clean water to thousands across the globe.

We Strongly Recomend

that whenever possible, participants do not know what they will be building or who will be on the receiving end. Keep these a secret between key program decision-makers. Odyssey will work with you to title the program in a way that preserves the secret and points to one or more of the many virtues your participants will be learning.

The following chart gives you the basic elements of each program including estimated investment amounts (actual amount is determined by group size). Each program is customized based on desired outcomes and duration. Please reach out to Kim Clary for program details and answers to your questions. # Programs

Life Cycles™

The original 'build-a-bike' program that teaches collaboration, customer-centricity, leadership and more. Designed as a business simulation to connect participants to the purpose of their work. The donation of the bikes to local children who burst through the doors to surprise participants makes this one of the most powerful experiences available. Over 18,000 bicycles built and donated.
